THE FLEXIBLE SOLUTION

Rethinking the office

Foldable furniture – the space-saving solution

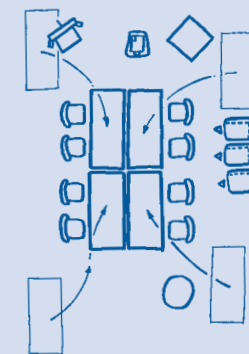

The fact is that most conference rooms are standing empty at least 20-30% of the time. With the rising price of office space around the globe and the pressure on companies to cut costs, this is clearly bad economics. Instead of having permanent areas for meetings, conferences and training purposes, the new office can offer a more flexible approach. Our FlipTop foldable meeting tables, for example, present a more efficient use of space. They can be rolled into place and folded open at any time to form a meeting area. Afterwards, they can simply be folded down again and moved back to storage.

Create your instant meeting area

Flexible, multi-functional furniture elements allow people to form individual or team workstations which can be rolled together at any time to form a temporary meeting place.

Modern solutions for GroupSpace

FlipTop allows companies to create temporary space where groups can meet and present, or work on team projects. We also offer other products to make meetings more effective, like our media communication tools, many of which are on wheels, as well as mobile storage units (Moby) and the Kart foldable chair.
