Let's B is simple yet stylish

Designed by the Dutch firm n/p/k, Let's B appeals to contemporary tastes.

Its minimal, sleek design fits in totally with today's modern tastes and mimics the body's natural shapes and curves.

Let's B is a complete family of chairs designed to blend in with any architectural style. It is available in a choice of textures, colours and materials that keep pace with change.

B my source

and essence of active comfort

Let's B supports, envelops and adapts. It follows each movement you make throughout the day... and your body feels the better for it.

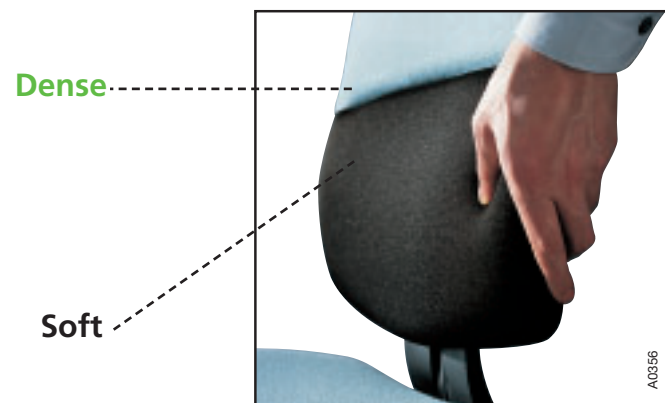

Natural flexibility

We know that the spine does not move as a single unit. Let's B has a flexible two-piece backrest that changes with your natural movements, allowing your upper body complete freedom of movement.

Tailored support

The upper and lower back need different types of support. Let's B's two-part backrest is padded with two different densities of foam. The upper part contains dense foam to support your upper back, while the lower part is covered with a pillow of soft foam to cushion your lumbar region.

A0267

What good is a high-performance chair if it can't be adjusted to suit you? Let's B has simple, easy-to-find, quick adjustments. They may well be what makes this chair so sophisticated.

All of the controls are located for easier access.

The intuitive buttons and levers are immediately familiar to any user.

The user's manual is stored in the backrest ensuring you'll never lose track of it. Just reach back and pull it out.

Got a question about how the chair works? Just click on www.letsb-steelcase.com to reach us.

Made for me

B mine

Let's B becomes a part of you and reflects exactly who you are. You'll find yourself saying "My chair" in no time at all.

So many models, fabrics, textures... Let's B is crying out for you to specify your favourite colours and reflect your identity.

It can be styled to reflect anyone's personality and, with a few adjustments, accommodates just about anybody.

Let's B's elegant coat hanger will keep even the most delicate fabrics wrinkle-free.

Individuality:

With the label holder, Let's B takes on a whole new identity. Just slip in a card with your logo, inventory bar code, department or unit name, or even a business card. Let your chair do the talking.

B born

The world we live in and the ways we work are changing all the time. Steelcase understands these changes and knows how to analyse them and guide them to fruition.

Two years of research involving a team of designers, ergonomists, industrialists, marketing experts and scientists was necessary before Let's B was ready to enter the working world. The common denominator binding this team together was each person's ability to understand the era we live in and its multifaceted working world.

Steelcase provide solutions for our ever changing needs. Let's B is the perfect example of it. The idea was to design a sophisticated chair that could adapt to every new work method and be affordable to all.

The team's first task was to rethink the concept of task chair. A chair isn't just for sitting, it has to be comfortable too. It's got to let a person move and yet feel supported. It must, in order to follow the hundreds of movements a person makes a day.

Then the team focused on three guiding principles:

Ergonomics, Let's B flows and follows the body's shape, providing freedom of movement.

Design, stylish and functional. We're attracted to what appeals to our own tastes.

Innovation, behind every project at Steelcase. It's what strikes the balance between today's work methods and the performance level of Steelcase's products.

Our world is changing, and Steelcase is ready to meet the current and future needs of businesses.

"We transform the ways people work."
