Divide a space

Ripple can be a smart way to divide a space while creating informal seating, turning a cafeteria area into a break zone to foster spontaneous interactions between people.

Ripple

Make a colourful impact on your office

Ripple is a playful multi-functional bench that brightens up welcome areas and in-between spaces. Distinctive and inviting, its soft, curved form is an ideal way to create a more relaxed and inspirational mood. Available in two versions, Wave and Snake, Ripple stands on its own to make a distinctive statement. Combine it with other casual elements like stools or low tables to transform an unused space. Either way Ripple is sure to make a colourful impact on your office.

Fine detailing Ripple comes with discreet glides and high quality upholstery and stitching. Available in almost all any seating fabrics, Ripple can be in plain colour or bicolour as standard.

Create a pit stop

Ripple's eye-catching looks and welcoming curves are a great way to bring character to waiting areas and corridors. The comfortable seat allows people to sit any way they like, making it ideal as a pit stop outside a meeting room.

Ripple's environmental performance

During Ripple's development process we considered environmental impacts of our decisions at every stage of the product's lifecycle - from materials extraction, production, transportation, use and re-use, to end of life.

With Ripple we can provide a Product Environmental Profile (PEP): based on the ISO 14021, its purpose is to communicate precise, verifiable and accurate information on environmental aspects of Bix during its life cycle (list of materials, materials' origin and certifications, percentage of recycled content, plants' certifications and manufacturing processes, packaging, products' recyclability).
